

FACILITATOR PROFILE

Leanne Camilleri

Passionate about creating measurable improvements in leadership effectiveness, employee engagement, and wellbeing, Leanne integrates the latest research in neuroscience and positive psychology to enable small actions that deliver a big impact.

Leanne is known for her positively deviant efforts to influence positive organizational behaviours and cultural vitality. Her personal and professional goal is to shine a light on pathways of possibility – to empower people with evidence-informed science and support them to make autonomous choices towards the outcomes that matter the most to them.

Leanne has a zest for developing and delivering integrated wellbeing, mindfulness, and diversity and inclusion programs to impactfully assist workers to manage their experience at work, especially those experiencing significant challenges and/or uncertainty in their work.

Leanne has a depth and breath of experience working with a diverse range of clients/sectors from healthcare and financial services to manufacturing, shipbuilding, and defence. She lives by the motto “other people matter.” Leanne is a compassionate connector and a relationship builder who looks for and tries to bring out the best in everyone she meets.

Calm to the chaos. Leanne is an influential voice in a group. A unique perspective who sees through challenge and implements change in our demanding and ever changing environments.
